OUR STORY:

In 2010, Tori Toth uploaded videos of her staging company's processes to YouTube as a way to introduce home staging to potential clients. Everything from the value of staging to cost, services, how-tos, DIYS, furnishings and decorating for the holidays can be found on the channel.

Today our mission is to share industry news, help educate consumers about the value of home staging -- but, by using industry leaders and contributors to help make home staging a real estate standard.

OUR MISSION IS IMPACTING THE INDUSTRY!

As a Realtor, I used some of your tips here. However- how would you stage a bathroom with a more masculine edge?

Thank you! I like your zest. (I've been into decorating since I was in third grade.) I do love your idea for faux fur. silks. and rich fabrics!

Tori, I want to add more fun textiles—like you do—to my home! The ones at the easily-accessible stores nearby usually aren't in my palette. If I have any ol' business license, would I be able to access the ones that are "for the trade only'? or are they picky—for interior designers or interior decorators only?

Very nice presentation. I found myself agreeing with you and nodding to myself with everything you said. I browse the local listings every day, and I'm just appalled at some of the photos I see that are so poorly planned.

Great tips! New sub. Never thought to use oxiclean, and wonder how effective it would be to thin it out and use with a sprayer. I'd love to participate in your next collab.
